Grand Chamber

Lekić v. Slovenia

11.12.2018

The case concerned striking a company off a court register and the subsequent liability of its managing director for its debts. The strike off procedure was used against the applicant's company under new legislation introduced in 1999, which gave courts the power to strike off dormant companies without having to wind them up. It resulted in him having to pay 32,795 euros to one of the company's creditors, the Railway Company of Slovenia.

No violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 (protection of property)

Ališić and Others v. Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, Serbia, Slovenia and "The former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia"

16.07.2014

Concerned the applicants' inability to recover "old" foreign-currency savings – deposited with two banks in what is now Bosnia and Herzegovina – following the dissolution of the former Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (SFRY).

The Court held:

With regard to Mr Šahdanović: unanimously, that there had been a violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 (protection of property) and a violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) by Serbia;

With regard to Ms Ališić and Mr Sadžak: unanimously, that there had been a violation of Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 and a violation of Article 13 by Slovenia;

With regard to the other respondent States: by a majority, that there had been no violation of Article 1 of Protocol No.1 and no violation of Article 13, and, unanimously, that there had been no violation of Article 14 taken together with Article 13 and Article 1 of Protocol No. 1.

Kurić and others v. Slovenia

26.06.2012¹

The applicants belong to a group of persons known as the "erased", who on 26 February 1992 lost their status as permanent residents following Slovenia's declaration of independence in 1991, and faced almost 20 years of extreme hardship. The number of "erased" people in 1991 amounted to 25,671.

Violation of Article 8 (right to respect for private and/or family life) of the European Convention on Human Rights;

Violation of Article 13 (right to an effective remedy) in combination with Article 8 of the Convention, and;

Violation of Article 14 (prohibition of discrimination) in combination with Article 8 The Court also decided to apply the pilot-judgment procedure, holding that the Government should, within one year, set up a compensation scheme for the "erased" in Slovenia. It decided it would adjourn examination of all similar applications in the meantime.

Šilih v. Slovenia

09.04.2009

Ineffectiveness of the proceedings conducted by the authorities to establish liability for the death of the applicant's son as a result of a medical error.

Violation of Article 2 (lack of an effective investigation)

¹ In the same case, by a Grand Chamber judgment of 12 March 2014 on the just satisfaction, the Court held, unanimously, that the Slovenian Government was to pay the six applicants whose rights under the European Convention on Human Rights had been violated amounts between 29,400 and 72,770 euros (EUR) each.

Noteworthy cases, decisions delivered

Inter-state case

Slovenia v. Croatia

16.12.2020

The case concerned unpaid and overdue debts owed to Ljubljana Bank by various Croatian companies on the basis of loans granted at the time of the former Yugoslavia.

The Court declared that it did not have jurisdiction to hear the case.

Anastasov and Others v. Slovenia

17.11.2016

The 212 applicants in this case belong to a group of people known as the "erased" (izbrisani). Former nationals of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia ("the SFRY") with permanent residence in Slovenia, their names were deleted from Slovenia's Register of Permanent Residents following the dissolution of the SFRY, Slovenia's declaration of independence and passing of the "independence legislation" in 1991. They thus became aliens with no legal status in Slovenia and remained so for periods ranging from seven months to more than 22 years.

In a previous pilot judgment (Kurić and Others v. Slovenia,) of June 2012 the Court found that the Slovenian authorities had failed to regulate the issue of "erased" people and to provide them with adequate redress for the years during which they had been in a position of vulnerability and legal insecurity; it also ordered Slovenia to set up a domestic compensation scheme.

The Court was satisfied that the system introduced by the Slovenian Government (and its functioning in practice) following the Kurić and Others judgment offered to the remaining "erased" persons who had regularised their legal status in Slovenia reasonable prospects of receiving compensation for the damage caused by the systemic violation of their Convention rights.

The Court decided:

- to close the pilot-judgment procedure initiated in Kurić and Others
- to strike the application out of its lists of cases

Kovačić and Others v. Slovenia

03.10.2008

Freezing of funds deposited by Croatian savers with a Slovenian bank prior to the dissolution of the former Yugoslavia.
